The Mountain Eagle

District Teachers To Hear Famous Lecturer-Traveler

Departmental Program Especially Strong, Outlook For Big Meeting at Hazard, October 11-12

The teachers of the Upper Kentucky River Educational district will meet at Hazard on October 11-12. They will have the opportunity of hearing Sam Grahwel, world traveler and lecturer from Cleveland, Ohio, on the Thursday evening program. On this same program there will be a contest in mountain ball singing by representatives of the different counties. This promises to be a very interesting feature of the program. The sessions will be interesting throughout with brief musical numbers.

On Thursday afternoon strong departmental programs will be presented. The elementary program will be given in the auditorium with Supt. Snyder of Owensboro, Supt. Owens of Newport, Principal Harris of Whitesburg and Supt. Sutton of Atlanta, Ga., as the speakers. In the library the high school department will present a program built around the idea of "Teaching of the high school subjects and their relation to good citizenship." On this program will appear Supt. Ball of Mt. Sterling, Supt. Smith of Hindman, Supt. Archer of Louisville, and W. P. King, secretary of the K.E.A. Another section meeting on Thursday afternoon will be a geography session which will present the idea of development of map study and map reading.

Friday morning's program, in addition to one or two outstanding speakers, will include a panel discussion of the topic of Kentucky educators toward the new code and the new plan of education. These discussions will be led by prominent local superintendents and principals and will be presided over by Supt. Beckham of Knott County.

Friday afternoon two speakers have been promised who have outstanding messages. Dr. J. N. Hillman, president of Emory and Henry College, Emory, Va., and Homer Nichols of the State Department of Education who will talk in the Emergency Education in Kentucky. There are also scheduled for Friday afternoon very interesting conferences in library technique. In home economics, attendance officers' procedure and emergency education. These conferences are going to be outstanding events of the meeting and each one should find an interest in one of these conferences and attend the one that is interesting to you.

Just remember, teachers, that this is going to be the biggest and best meeting the Upper Kentucky River Education Association has ever had. The children and parents of Kentucky are looking to you teachers of Kentucky for your leadership, and we are sure you will not fail.

Jim Flinchum Found Dead Near Mayking

Body Was Found on Railroad Tracks; Head Missing And Not Yet Found

Early Monday morning, Jim Flinchum, about fifty-five, saw mill man and farmer living late by at Sergeant, was found terribly mangled and dead on or near the L&N railroad track near the Charlie Hogg home Mayking.

It is not known how he was killed. Any way, a train, either the night before or early that morning, had run over the body. The head of the man was not entirely off and the last rest we had, searchers were unable to find it.

Jim Flinchum was a drinking man, and on the evening before he was found, he was drunk and stirring around at Mayking, though late that night it is said he appeared perfectly sober. Just what he was doing at the spot where he met his death and two miles from his home at Sergeant at that time is not known.

Jim Flinchum when out of whiskey was an upright and honorable man, and when drinking was generally quiet and peaceable. He was a hard worker and reared a large family, most of whom are grown. He leaves a widow, his children and a great number of friends to mourn his loss.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Burley Hale entertained in honor of her daughter, Florence Irene's twelfth birthday at her home on College Hill. Those present were: Jack Passmore, Steve Bowen, Ruth and Cecil Williams, Beulah Pitter, Celia Shepherd, Mildred Sergeant, Tommy Blair, Mildred Williams, Nelly Bennett, Jimmy Boyd, Geraldine and Parnell Johnson, Mabel Brown, Nehemiah Craft, William Gibson, Jack Swisher, Ralph Frazier, Joanne and Jennie Lewis, Elaine Stamper and Colby Adams.

COMBS-MOORE

Miss Viola Combs, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Combs, and Ferdinand Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore, were married at Mount Vernon, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore are at home in Whitesburg. In passing the Eagle gladly takes time to offer these excellent young folks' warmest congratulations and extends to them the very sincerest of best wishes.

At this time on Wednesday, 42 persons are confined in the county jail on Broadway. Others are expected to enlist in the army at any time.

Circuit Court Now In Session

Trials of Robert Day and Earl Brown Set For 11th Day of Present Term

Circuit Court is moving off nicely. A great number of cases are being tried, and numbers are going to jail. The juries show unmistakable signs that they are standing for law and order. The grand jury is hard at work trying to ferret out those prone to offend. It is not yet definitely decided whether the trials of Robert Day and Earl Brown indicted at this term of court, will be brought to trial this court. If so, it will most likely be toward the end of the term. Hundreds of people are daily in town, generally interested in Circuit Court. Judge Childers persists in going strongly against those who persist in violations.

The trials of Robert Day and Earl Brown were set for the 11th day of the present term of court. They are in jail here denied bond.

FOR SALE OR TRADE

ONE GOOD COW. Five years old, and one half in good condition, for sale for cash or in trade. Will trade either for hogs, call on C. F. Blair, Donogh, Ky.

JUDGE FIELDS DELIVERS ABLE TALK

It was a crowded courtroom, that gave earnest attention to the serious talk of Judge R. Monroe Fields Monday in his charge to the new grand jury. The Judge cautiously and carefully measured his words as he spoke of his survey of the condition of our county, with reference to the crime waves which constantly spread over it, especially dealing with the fact that the criminal calendar shows that the younger set is mostly represented. He referred to the deplorable fact that within the last few years parents and guardians in their efforts to make living had loosened the reins on their children and allowed them to grow up without restraint, had allowed them to mix and mingle with the debased classes and thus go on the broad road to ruin.

OCTOBER IS HIT MONTH AT KENTUCKY THEATRE

The true fall season now gets in full swing. Masterpieces with the greatest stars will be shown here at the Kentucky this month.

You'll know why we call October "Hit Month" when you see such masterpieces as: Dr. Monica, Little Man, What Now?, House Wife, Side Street, She Loves Me Not, Dragon Hunter, Case, Whirlwind, Circus Clown, The Cat's Paw, Ladies Should Listen, Notorious Sophie Lange, Friends of Mr. Swensen, Scarlet Empress and Stand Up and Cheer.

SECO

The Seco Hospital has been crowded with patients for the past week but in that time there has been no deaths. Dr. Wright was called to Harlan to perform a dangerous operation on Olive Smith. Mr. Smith was suffering with an intestinal obstruction. The latest is that he is practically well.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Moss and Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Wright are attending the meeting of the State Medical Association at Harlan. The little child of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pitter, of Jenkins, dangerously ill with pneumonia in the hospital here, will be able to return to its home this week.

New Church To Be Dedicated

In Cumberland Valley, Oct. 7: Basket Dinner and Sunday School Rally Included

We are sending through the East a special invitation to everyone to come to the dedication of the new Presbyterian Church in Cumberland Valley.

Get all the family together, pack a basket and crank up the Ford and be there by eleven o'clock, Whitesburg time.

Rev. H. L. Cockerham, of Blackey, will preach at the morning service. After dinner there will be a Sunday School rally for an hour with some interesting talks from different people.

This church building replaces the old church that was built in the valley thirty years ago. Everyone come with us and enjoy the day.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank those who stood by us in our deep sorrow during the illness and death of our son, Charles Adams, Jr. We especially want to thank Dr. Crawford and Dr. Collier who worked day and night so bravely, and the preacher for the service and for the beautiful floral offering.

Mr. & Mrs. Charles Adams

REV. W. V. CROPPER TO PREACH AT M.E. CHURCH

Dr. W. V. Cropper, newly appointed Presiding Elder of the Lexington district, will preach at the evening service at the Methodist Church this coming Sunday night. Dr. Cropper is known through the conference as a preacher of real ability, and his message is anticipated by those who know him.

Immediately following the preaching service the first Quarterly Conference of the year will be held, with Dr. Cropper in the chair.

NEW LIQUOR STORE OPENED THIS WEEK

The Whitesburg Liquor Dispensary, located on Webb Ave. and Main Street, Louis Budnick proprietor, is opening for business this week. Mr. Budnick has well known to our people, having been a merchant at Neen for a number of years.

Great Number Of Sales On First Day Of Circuit Court

Apex Coal Company Property and Dr. Fitzpatrick Farm Included In Sales

Monday was sale day at the courthouse door. A great number of sales were made by Mrs. Fields, Master Commissioner, the sheriff and Mr. Harvie, who had charge of a receiver's sale for the Apex Coal Company. The property generally went at amazingly low prices. Dr. Fitzpatrick was the purchaser of the 100-acre Dr. Fitzpatrick farm on Solomon and the entire coal operation of the Apex Coal Company. Sol Frazier became the owner of the small vacant business lot on Main Street lying next to the First National Bank Building. Frequently there was lively bidding. Mr. Fairchild bought several of the pieces of property for the Fitzpatrick heirs, which was being sold for debts owing to the old National Bank.

BACH REUNION TO BE HELD

On next Sunday, October 7, the Bach family and their relatives of Eastern Kentucky and elsewhere will be held at the mouth of Quicksand, near Jackson. Everybody is welcome to attend. Dinner will be served on the ground, and a great assemblage is expected to be present.

TILLIE & ISOM

Again as usual Colly had another basketball game with Smoot, 17-10 in favor of Colly. Colly also won an arithmetic match. Aunt Mary Collins has promised to present to each boy a basketball suit for being the winners of every game played this year.

Mrs. B. C. Collins, of T.C. visited Mr. and Mrs. S. Collins the past week-end and gave them a very nice wedding present.

Claude Collins of Millstone, of Letcher Collins, has gone to Louisville to take a business course.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Collins and several others are attending the revival at Whitesburg. Tip Cornett and Harrison Boggs of Linefork were here to attend the memorial services of John Tyree's daughter. But the weather was so it had was postponed.

FUNERAL NOTICE

The funeral of Aunt Martha Adams will be preached next Saturday and Sunday at the family graveyard on Little Cowan. Regular Baptist ministers will be in charge of the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ammerman have returned after a few days in Cynthiana.

Jack May Opens Campaign Here On Saturday

Big Crowds Expected on This Day; Other Noted Speakers Also To Be Here

Hon. Jack May, Democratic nominee for Congress in our district, will open his campaign here next Saturday and a great crowd is expected to be in town. Congressman May is an eloquent speaker, one of the leading orators, and it will be worth anyone while, either Democrat or Republican, to hear him. Of course, he comes up fresh from the law-making seat of the Government up at Washington and knows the ways and wherefores of every move of the Administration to restore this country back to the realm of hope and prosperity.

It is stated that a large motorcade, carrying hundreds of people from the Sandy Valley and other counties of the district, are to attend the campaign opening and hear what the Congressman has to say. Other well known and equally qualified speakers, it is stated, will be on hand to entertain. Bodies of local United Mine Workers are also expected to come to Whitesburg on the day and enjoy the occasion.

In Memory of Elder : David Maggard :

James Maggard, son of the late Eld. David Maggard, who cured so attentively to his father for the last eight or ten years, sends the following account of his deceased father with request to publish: "Eld. D. M. Maggard had been preaching sixty-two years the day he was stricken down. He lived ten days after this. He called his preaching brethren to his bed and asked them to continue in the faith and doctrine that he had always held. That he had to go, that he fought a good fight, had finished his work the Lord had called him to do. The preachers he generally talked to in his last few days were Elds. W. R. Biggs, Felix G. Fields, W. R. Scott, Caleb Creech and Enoch Blair. These preached for him up to his last moment. He would often raise up from his bed and join in the preaching. I want all his friends and mine who were so kind and patient with us, I feel that God will grant them blessings. A light is vacant in our little home that no human can fill, but we know that light is shining on the other shore.

"I want to thank the brethren and all our friends far and near for their kindness to us."

"James Maggard." Note: Some of the interesting facts in the career of Elder Maggard are disclosed from records of the old Oven Fork church are as follows: Eld. David Maggard born Dec. 18, 1839. Received into the church, the second Saturday in May, 1867. Ordained as deacon Sept. 7, 1869. Liberalized to exorcise public gift in any of the sister churches of the same faith and order in the second Saturday in July, 1872. Was married to Miss Sarah Mullins August 5, 1859. She was born January 9, 1833, and was received into the fellowship of the old Oven Fork church July 2, 1867. She was deceased May 30, 1926. The old record of the church reads, "Was ordained to all the ministry of the gospel when God in his providence may call him, on the 13th day of Oct. 1867."

As heretofore recorded, Eld. Maggard was taken from his earthly tenement of clay to life everlasting on Sept. 3, 1934.

Brazil Nuts Add Variety to Menu

By Caroline B. King
Home Economics and Culinary Authority

WHAT a lot of the good things we have to eat we owe to those sturdy old sea captains who scouted over the seas and into foreign countries looking for appetizing edibles for everyone who appreciates fine eating. Long ago they began their missionary work of bringing back delicious to eat to their tables. Among the importations from South America came the Brazil nut, with its delicious flavor, and so rich in all the necessary food qualities, that we are now using it more and more in modern cookery, not only as a garnish but as a main ingredient to add distinction to our meals.

Brazil nuts are especially useful in all kinds of cookery. They are a distinct addition to salads, desserts and sweetmeats. They may also be salted, roasted, deviled and prepared in several ways to serve as hors d'oeuvres and appetizers. Added to these uses, the Brazil nut because of its valuable food properties makes a most satisfactory meat substitute and may be used in combination with other foods as the place de resistance for many a warm weather meal. For instance try the following recipes:

Sweet Potato and Brazil Nut Croquettes (Illustrated above): Boil and mash well, enough sweet potatoes to make 2 cups, add 1/2 cup of salt, 1 tablespoon of oil, 1 cup of butter, 1 beaten egg and 1/2 cup of chopped Brazil nuts & moisten slightly with cream or milk, form into croquettes, roll in beaten egg, then in fine crumbs and place in a hot oven to brown. If preferred, these croquettes may be molded into the shape of pears, dipped in egg and crumbs and fried in deep boiling fat. Garnish with parsley, using pieces of the stalks for stems, and serve very hot.

Brazilian Loaf: Chop or grind fine enough Brazil nuts to make 1 cupful, add 2 cups of soft bread crumbs, 1/2 cupful of finely chopped celery, 1/2 cupful of shredded green pepper, 1 tablespoonful of minced onion, 1/2 cupful of cold mashed potatoes, and 2 well-beaten eggs, season with 1 teaspoonful of salt, 1/4 teaspoonful each of pepper and paprika, mix all well, make into a loaf, place in a greased pan and bake 35 to 40 minutes. Serve with tomato sauce or cream sauce.

Salted Brazil Nuts are a happy accompaniment to any meal. Prepared in the following way they are delicious and free from the usual seasonings of salted nuts. Roast shelled Brazil nuts in the oven until brown, then rub between towels to remove the skin, roll in un-beaten egg white, spread on a pan and sprinkle lightly with salt. Place in a cool oven to dry.

THE JIM HUGHES CASE ON TRIAL

Today, in the afternoon, James Hughes, charged with the murder of Joe Drew, went on trial in Circuit Court. The jury consists of some of the regular panel, the others from by-standers. On this evening only two witnesses were used. Mrs. Drew, widow of the slain man being the first. She told of the quarrel she had with Hughes on the evening before and of his coming to the front of the house in Haymond where she and her husband were staying early next morning and call him out on the street. She also told of the two licks struck, one each by the men, and then of Hughes shooting him. This killing took place in the town of Haymond on Sunday morning, July 8th, this year.
